Descendants of Joseph Putnam and Elizabeth Hawthorne Porter

1. Joseph<sup>1</sup> Putnam, born<sup>1</sup> 14 Sep 1669 in Salem Village (Danvers), Essex, MA; died 1724 or 1725 in Salem Village (Danvers), Essex, MA, son of Thomas Putnam and Mary Veren. He married on 21 Apr 1690 in Salem Village (Danvers), Essex, MA Elizabeth Hawthorne Porter, born 7 Oct 1673 in Salem Village (Danvers), Essex, MA; died 1746 in Salem Village (Danvers), Essex, MA, daughter of Israel Porter.

Notes for Joseph Putnam

It is said that Israel's father, Joseph Putnam, was such an outspoken critic of the witchcraft persecutions which shook Salem in the final years of the seventeenth century that he earned the lasting disapproval of both relatives and neighbors. As a precaution against the time when he might be accused of being a witch (or a warlock), they say Joseph Putnam kept his musket loaded and a fast horse saddled at all times, ready for possible flight.

Joseph Putnam will always be remembered for his opposition to Mr. Parris and the witchcraft trials. The position which he took could only have been maintained by one who, like himself, was allied with the principal families of the county. He opposed from first to last the proceedings which disgraced Dauvers and his immediate relatives and friends. This was a source of peril to even him, however, and for six months, one of his fleetest horses was kept saddled, ready at a moment's notice, should an attempt be made to seize his person. This fact was well known and it was also known that he would resist every attempt of that nature, even though it cost the lives of those who came to take him. It is a significant fact that his children were baptized in Salem, this being a very public manner of showing his disapprobation of the course followed by Mr. Parris. Joseph Putnam should be honored far above all others of his generation; for he showed that not only did he have the courage common to all of the family, but was above the ignorant superstition of the time by which such men as Judge Samuel Sewall and Cotton Mather were overcome.

It is proper to state at this juncture, that the romantic tale of a sister of Joseph Putnam being accused of witchcraft at a session of the Court to which she had been drawn by curiosity, and her flight and concealment in Middleton woods, is entirely without foundation. Mr. Tarbox in his History of Gen. Israel Putnam quotes from Mr. Rice, but however thrilling and interesting a story this account may be, it has absolutely no foundation.

Notes for Gen. Israel Porter Putnam

Israel Putnam (January 7, 1718 – May 29, 1790) was an American army general who fought with distinction at the Battle of Bunker Hill (1775) during the American Revolutionary War (1775–1783). Although Putnam never quite attained the national renown of more famous heroes such as Davy Crockett or Daniel Boone, in his own time his reckless courage and fighting spirit were known far beyond Connecticut's borders through the circulation of folk legends celebrating his exploits.

Putnam County is a county located in the U.S. state of New York, in the lower Hudson Valley. Putnam county formed in 1812, when it detached from Dutchess County. As of 2004, the population is 100,570. It is part of the New York Metropolitan Area. The county seat is Carmel. Putnam county was named in honor of Israel Putnam, who was a hero in the French and Indian War and a general in the American Revolutionary War. Putnam County is one of the most affluent counties in America, ranked 11th by median household income, and 47th by per-capita income, according to the year 2000 census.

Major General Putnam was the ranking Continental officer at the Battle of Bunker Hill.

By 1735 all the wolves of the Pomfret, CT neighborhood seem to have been slain save one old female that for some seasons more went on ravaging the farm-yards. Her lair was not far from Putnam's farm, and one night she slew sixty or seventy of his fine sheep. Perhaps no incident in Putnam's career is so often quoted as his share in the wolf-hunt, ending in his descending into the dark, narrow cave, shooting his enemy at short range, and dragging her forth in triumph.

 22 ix David<sup>3</sup> Putnam, born 1761.
 23 x Peter Schuyler<sup>3</sup> Putnam, born 31 Dec 1764 in Pomfret, Windham, CT.

Generation 3

13. Joseph<sup>3</sup> Putnam (David<sup>2</sup>, Joseph<sup>1</sup>), born 14 Oct 1739 in Danvers, Essex, MA; died 9 Mar 1818 in Danvers, Essex, MA. He married on 26 Mar 1770 in Danvers, Essex, MA Ruth Flint, born 12 Apr 1747 in Danvers, Essex, MA; died 30 Sep 1816 in Danvers, Essex, MA.

Notes for Joseph Putnam

Joseph was the fifth of ten children.

Children of Joseph Putnam and Ruth Flint were as follows:

- + 24 i Jesse<sup>4</sup> Putnam, born<sup>2</sup> 3 Apr 1788 in Danvers, Essex, MA; died 10 Feb 1861 in Danvers, Essex, MA.
 He married Elizabeth Merriam.

Generation 4

Notes for Jesse Putnam

Col. Jesse Putnam lived and died on his ancestral farm in Danvers, and with many of his family is buried in the Putnam cemetery near Asylum station in Danvers. This cemetery is known as the "Daniel and Jesse Putnam Burial Ground." In it are the remains of most of the descendants of Thomas Putnam who have lived on or near his original farm. Here in the old tomb, now overgrown, was laid the body of Ann Putnam of witchcraft memory.

The sixth of seven children, Jesse Putnam was constantly improving the farm inherited from his ancestors, and early obtained the premium offered by the Essex County Agricultural Society for the best managed farm in the county. He was an active temperance man in principle and practice, never supplying his men with the liquor customary in those days. His independent character was shown in many ways, especially in his active anti-slavery work and other moral and political reforms. His title of colonel was obtained during the war of 1812, he having commanded an artillery company stationed at Beverly, although he was never in actual service.

In church affairs he was ever to the front in contributing financial and moral aid to every good cause. He had united with the First Church in 1832 and was a constant attendant. In town affairs he was frequently called upon to take a prominent part and held many official positions. His character was strongly marked. Generous, brave, hearty in his friendships, fond of children and of fun, thoroughly in earnest in whatever he undertook, hospitable and kind to the poor, he was a typical American country gentleman.

Notes for Elizabeth Merriam

Mrs. Putnam was as remarkable a woman as her husband was a man. She was of inestimable service to him and their long married life was unmarred. Living to a great age she retained her faculties to the last. On her 102d birthday, surrounded by her descendants, she received her many friends, and enjoyed the occasion as much as any, being keenly alive to all the affairs of the day. At the time of her death she was the oldest woman in Essex County.

Notes for Walter Harrington Kilham (255)

Walter Sr. graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology. From 1893-95 he traveled in Europe on a Rotch Traveling Scholarship; was a most successful architect and important citizen of Boston. Among his several books are "Boston After Bulfinch - Architecture from 1800 to 1900" and "Mexican Architecture of the Vice-Regal Period." For information on his many accomplishments see his memoirs in two volumes in the Massachusetts Historical Society.

Notes for Jane Houston (255)

Jane was the daughter of William J. Houston (1841-1890) who came to America at age two years from Scotland. He rode to California on horseback in 1859 and settled near San Francisco. Jane's grandmother's family were the Tabers, descended from early arrivals in America on the Mayflower, from Essex, England, where they were shipbuilders.

Jane's mother was Martha Pratt Miller who lived in Augusta, Maine, from where at the age of 16 with her mother she crossed the Isthmus in 1859 (see family manuscript magazine The Clearing owned by her children) on the way to join her eldest brother, William P. Miller, well established in Stockton, California, where he owned a large carriage factory. Before her marriage to William Houston, Martha taught school near Stockton, California.

Martha and William Houston's children were Frederick King, Andrew Whittier, Jane (Mrs. Walter Kilham), Mabel (Mrs. Jesse W. Lazear - whose husband was a Johns Hopkins doctor of yellow fever fame), Helen (Sister Helen Laurine of "All Saints", an order of the Episcopal Church located in Catonsville, Maryland) who died Aug. 11, 1964, aged 85.

Jane Houston, a Titian-haired art student met Walter Kilham in Paris where he was traveling on the Rotch Traveling Scholarship. They were married in California. Both had high principles of art and stood for it in their own lines. She founded the Society of Independent Artists in Boston to assist unknown artists. Jane continued to paint, and also worked hard to make the summer home - an abandoned farm known as "The Clearing" at Tamworth, N. H. - a thing of beauty.

Children of Walter Harrington Kilham (255) and Jane Houston (255) were as follows:

- + 33 i Jeanette<sup>s</sup> Kilham (266)  , born 7 May 1897 in Brookline, Norfolk, MA; died 11 May 1992 in Wayne, Chester, PA; buried in Jamaica, Queens, NY (Union Fields Cemetery). She married

John Lewis Lewis Goldstone (266)

Notes for Peter Houston Kilham (269)

Peter Kilham is an artist and inventor; inventor of computing gun sight for bombers; also of metal forming machines and manufacturer of same in his own company - Curvit Corporation - of which he was president. At one time all Pratt & Whitney jet engines, all Chevrolet cars, and almost all the doll carriages in the United States had parts formed on machines designed and made by his company. The company was sold in 1958 but is still operating.

At present Peter is president of Droll Yankees, Inc., producers of phonograph records of New England; he does all the recording, editing, and art work. The company is first in its limited field. In 1961 one of the jacket designs by Peter was chosen (by the American Institute of Graphic Arts) as one of the two best done in this country.

Notes for Frances Potter Breese

Frances Breese's mother was Marjorie Gorges Breese; her maternal grandparents were Edward and Margaret Gorges. Edward was a descendant of Sir Ferdinando Gorges, first proprietor of Maine. Her father was James Lawrence Breese, engineer on NC-4 on first transcontinental flight; also an inventor. Her paternal grandparents were James Lawrence and Eloise Potter Breese. James was a pal of Diamond Jim Brady and Stanford White. Eloise Potter was from the family of Bishop Potter of Rhode Island.

Notes for Mary Jane Kaufholz

Mary Jane graduated from Smith College 1934; School of Medicine University of Pennsylvania 1940; interned in Lakeside Hospital, University Hospital of Cleveland, Ohio; Emergency Medical Service (British) as M. D. Lived in England from January 1942 to August 1944.

Mary Jane's father was Charles Frederick Kaufholz (b. July 18, 1879 in Cleveland, Ohio d. Dec. 12, 1952 in Canton, Ohio); graduated with B. S. in Mechanical Engineering from Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, Ohio, and then spent a year in Germany at a School of Mines. His grandfathers - Frederick Kaufholz and Henry Trautmann - were among the early German settlers of Cleveland. Frederick Kaufholz came from Duderstadt, Germany, where his ancestors can be traced among the patrician families from the 13th century. Through his mother he was an 11th generation descendant of Landgrave Ludwig II of Hessen. He built and was pastor of the first German church in West Cleveland.

Charles F. Kaufholz married in Buffalo, N. Y., on Oct. 16, 1907 Grace Wurst, daughter of Jacob Wurst and Gottlieb Euchner, both of whom were from near Reutlingen in Wurttemberg, Germany. Grace Wurst was born in Holland, Erie County, N. Y., on Jan. 6, 1883; attended Wells College, and Buffalo Normal School, and then taught at South Wales, N. Y. before her marriage. In the Wurst and Euchner families there were also many teachers and Burgermeisters of Wurtemberg. Jacob Wurst was descended in possibly more than 20 ways from the v. Pfullingen, a cadet line of the counts of Swabia.
